victim and the most critically injured person were riding was ripped in half by the force of the collision.

Springfield Woman Killed In Route 56-104 Accident

One person was killed and two injured in a two-car accident as Pickaway County recorded its 13 traffic fatality 9:05 a.m. Thursday at the intersection of State Route 56 and 104.

Dead on arrival at Berger Hospital was Delphia May Westfall, Springfield, with massive head and chest injuries. The car she was a passenger in ran the stop lights on Route 56.

Gerhardt Supports Issue 1

Pickaway County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt today announced he fully supports the passage of Issue 1 in Tuesday's election.

Gerhardt, who is a member of the Pickaway County Board of Tax Review by virtue of his office, said the passage of the issue will not result in any tax reduction.

"By practice, the present system of valuation is almost identical to the proposed constitutional amendment," Gerhardt stated.

He pointed out that a recent court decision has ruled that under existing Ohio Law land must be assessed for tax purposes on a basis of its full potential value, not its value for agriculture purposes.

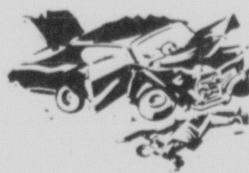

Potential value of real estate located near urban residential, industrial and commercial areas is much greater than its value for farming. Taxing this land at its potential value will force many farmers to sell, the prosecutor believes.

Phone Pickets Struck By Car

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—About two dozen operators at Elyria Telephone Co. have struck the firm, and three of their pickets reportedly were hit by a car as they marched outside the building, spokesmen said today.

The operators, members of Communications Workers of America Local 4485 and among the firm's about 200 employees, contend they have been harassed, given unfair treatment and subjected to discrimination.

The auto was driven by Alice M. Hurd, 77, Springfield. It was travelling east on Route 56 when she failed to stop for the traffic lights.

Special Session May Fade Away

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The special session of the 110th General Assembly which is attempting to enact campaign financing reforms, could fade into nothingness.

Most of the lawmakers have gone home, some saying they don't foresee any reason to return. They predict an informal conference committee, which meets today for the first time, to bog down and eventually quit.

Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, said, "I don't expect to be coming back. I think the committee will just die away."

Others expressed a similar view regarding the partisan standoff over how to handle political contributions of unions and corporate interests.

"It's a basic difference in philosophy," said House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg. The meaning was clear. Republicans want to protect their traditional business community support and Democrats are unwilling to yield any part of the labor support they always have enjoyed.

"If we don't have a bill by Nov. 6 (Tuesday), I think we had just as well forget it," said House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, early in the day.

Later, it appeared virtually certain that there will be no vote on any proposal before Wednesday.

The conferees, who were to meet at 11 a.m. today are:

splitting the car in half.

Tom Wells, 340 Walnut Creek Pike, an eyewitness to the accident, stated he was travelling west on Route 56, preparing to stop for the light when he saw the Hurd auto travel through the light without slowing down.

Ms. Hurd was transferred to University Hospital, Columbus, with serious head and chest injuries.

Harding was taken to Berger Hospital with back injuries.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz investigated the accident assisted by Warren Straley and Earl Kuhn.

Sens. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake, the main sponsor of the GOP bill; Sen. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland; Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo; Reps. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland; Michael Del Bane, D-56 Hubbard; and Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville.

Lancione said most legislators have returned home but noted the lawmakers are on call and could be summoned to Columbus at any time.

Celeste said he was not sure that House Republicans want any bill. The same comment, aimed at Democrats, came from Kurfess.

One legislative leader, who asked not to be quoted, said he didn't think any bill was needed and that Gov. John Gilligan "boxed us in by calling this session."

The GOP bill allows union and association members to earmark the recipients of their contributions. The Democratic version would allow the fate of contributions to be decided by political action committees.

Lancione had hoped for a vote by Tuesday so any law adopted would be in effect by Feb. 6, deadline for filing for the primary.

Kurfess questioned whether that could apply to a primary candidate who filed before the deadline.

Celeste, the major sponsor of the Democratic version of the bill, said he hoped "temporary language" could be inserted to cover primary candidates.

Saxbe, Jaworski Tapped By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today named Sen. William B. Saxbe as attorney general and approved the selection of Leon Jaworski as new Watergate special prosecutor with full independence and safeguards against being fired.

The President promised not to discharge Jaworski, as he had Archibald Cox, without obtaining the consent of House and Senate Democratic and Republican leaders and top members of the two judiciary committees in Congress.

Nixon appeared personally in the White House briefing room to announce his nomination of Saxbe, an Ohio Republican who is not seeking re-election, as successor to Elliot Richardson, who resigned Oct. 20 rather than follow Nixon's orders to fire Cox.

The President, without answering questions, then turned the podium over to acting Atty. Gen. Robert Bork, who announced that Jaworski would become special prosecutor to pursue "the Watergate matter and related subjects."

Bork said that Jaworski has been "promised the full cooperation of the executive branch." Should Jaworski decide that he needs presidential documents, Bork said, "there will be no restrictions placed on his freedom ..."

Bork said Jaworski, a confidant of the late President Lyndon B. Johnson, would have the same broad mandate which had been given Cox. In addition, Bork said that Nixon has given "his personal assurance" that he will not fire Jaworski without first consulting with the specified congressional leaders and "ascertaining that their consensus is in accord with his proposed action."

The firing of Cox after his refusal to abide by Nixon's orders to drop efforts in court to obtain confidential White House tapes and documents touched off a massive controversy and triggered moves to start impeachment proceedings.

Bork underscored the same point saying: "Mr. Jaworski is not coming on with any limitations on his freedom of action."

But the bearded former Yale professor who assumed the role as acting attorney general on Oct. 20 and fired Cox as his first act said he does not expect continued court battles over access to White House tapes and documents.

"I anticipate reasonableness on both sides," he said.

As for the other staff of investigators and prosecutors that Cox had formed, Bork indicated he believed Jaworski would retain Cox's appointees.

"I stated to him that I thought that staff was indispensable to the rapid ... prosecution of these cases," Bork said. "He fully agreed."

He said it will be up to Jaworski to decide whether to pursue such investigations as the reported probe of presidential friend C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo's handling of a $100,000 campaign contribution from billionaire Howard Hughes.

Sources said Wednesday night that the administration had settled on Jaworski and Saxbe.

Saxbe told reporters he was satisfied "the President has acted honorably in the situations that have risen since Watergate."

Both selections face an uncertain reception in Congress.

The nominee for attorney general must be confirmed by the Senate. In addition, Congress is considering proposals to set up a court-appointed Watergate prosecutor not subject to firing by Nixon.

Archibald Cox was fired Oct. 20 as special Watergate prosecutor for refusing to drop his court battle for White House tape recordings on Watergate. Elliot L. Richardson resigned as attorney general the same day rather than carry out Nixon's order to fire Cox.

Jaworski said Wednesday night the matter of becoming the new Watergate prosecutor had been put to him in the light of patriotic service, and he said he would accept it in that spirit.

When asked what role he thought the special prosecutor should play, Jaworski said he sees the role as one that must have complete independence.

Saxbe said he believes Nixon went too far in agreeing to release tapes of presidential conversations dealing with the case.

The 57-year-old senator said he believes the tapes are privileged and "about as intimate a thing as can be." He said he believed he would have the independence necessary to operate as attorney general.

Claim Milk Fund 'Legal Fees' Went Into Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fired lawyer for the nation's largest dairy cooperative swears the group disguised illegal corporate "campaign contributions" as legal fees.

The allegation is being investigated by the Senate Watergate committee, the Watergate prosecution force, the FBI, the Internal Revenue Service and the General Accounting Office.

Investigators are seeking to find how much of a reported $384,000 legal bill went into the alleged contributions, who got them, and whether any of the money was used for any other purpose.

The ousted lawyer, Joseph A. Rose Jr., 35, was fired from his job as the San Antonio-based Associated Milk Producers Inc. in September after he told part of his story to FBI agents.

A spokesman for the group said Rose was fired for "failure to carry out his duties."

Rose testified in a lawsuit that the milk producers funneled political money through an Oklahoma City lawyer, Stuart Russell, and that Russell converted it to checks and cash and gave it to the milkmen's chief political staffer, Robert Lilly.

Court filings show Russell received $384,000 in a 10-month period ending April 30, 1972. At least part of the money apparently went for legitimate legal costs, since Russell performed legal services for the milk group during that period.

Rose said Russell acknowledged passing money to Lilly for "political contributions," and became nervous about the arrangement when IRS agents traced some of the money to Lilly. Federal law prohibits use of corporation money for political donations.

Rose said Lilly indicated he knew who got the money, and that he left open the possibility it had gone for something other than campaign funds.

Rose said he felt it was his obligation as a lawyer to get the money back, but that Lilly told him, "It can't be recouped because it didn't go to something like the Committee to Reelect the President. It went direct."

Steel Chief Says Controls Hurt Firms

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The chairman of the Republic Steel Corp. said today that government price controls and antitrust fights are crimping U.S. industry's ability to compete with foreign companies.

W.B. Boyer told a Cleveland Engineering Society meeting that, in the steel industry, expansion is at a standstill while the foreign steel business is booming.

He noted that in 1965 eight American steel companies ranked among the largest dozen in the world. Eight years later, only three U.S. firms still are among the 12, he said.

Government price controls have "saddled business with an administrative nightmare," and "outdated antitrust concepts" have prevented accumulation of the enormous capital industries such as the steel business need to amass, he said.

"This is a changed world and ours is now a changed industrial structure from that which existed when vigorous antitrust programs were needed to correct obvious abuses and inequities," he said.

"Yet this notion seems to be totally at odds with the thinking of some powerful figures in Washington who seem continually bent on breaking up various American industries."

Ohio EPA Faces Critics Of Lower Air Standards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's Environmental Protection Agency, forced to slow down its campaign to clean up the state's air, becomes a prime ecological target Monday.

EPA officials will hold a public hearing in Columbus on its proposal to extend until 1977 final compliance with state standards for control of sulfur dioxide. The original deadline was 1975.

No blanket extension is proposed. Each industry will have to convince EPA that it has to have the extension on a case-by-case basis.

Still, even the appearance of a slowdown appeared certain to draw fire from ecologists and from related groups. The Ohio Lung Association already has publicized its opposition.

The state also plans to change application of its regulations from a regional to a county level—a change that would leave 67 of Ohio's 88 counties just where they are now for the next four years.

"The sulfur dioxide control program that Ohio submitted to the federal government in 1971 was based upon the assumption that adequate amounts of low sulfur fuel would be available to industries choosing to turn to low sulfur coal and oil to control their air pollution problem," said Dr. Ira L. Whitman, Ohio EPA director.

"We now know that the supply of such fuel is inadequate to meet Ohio's needs."

Dr. Whitman said the alternative to low sulfur fuel was installation of stack gas removal equipment. "Such equipment is in short supply and many sulfur dioxide control systems may not be operational before 1977," Whitman said.

"Control of sulfur dioxide emissions from large-scale fossil-fired boilers is a critical problem facing both the electric utility and coal industries," said Richard B. Engdahl of Battelle, a

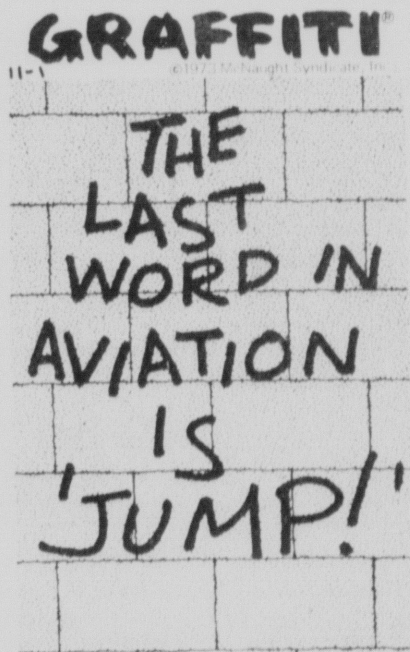

Columbus-based private research firm.

A Battelle report indicated that sufficient stack gas removal equipment would not be available in time to become operational by July, 1975, the original deadline.

"In light of these facts," said Dr. Whitman, "the Ohio EPA is proposing new sulfur dioxide control strategies and other minor changes in the regulations are being proposed."

As of now, Ohio has 14 clean air regions. Under the proposal the state would assign each county to one of three priorities. This would put 67 counties in Priority III, with relatively limited controls, and 21 priorities I and II.

Priority III, counties would not have to meet emission limitations. They would be required only to use the lowest sulfur content coal they used during 1970, 1971 or 1972.

Weather

Partly cloudy, windy and cool today. High in mid 50s. Partly cloudy and cooler tonight, low in upper 30s. Mostly cloudy with chances of rain Friday with high in lower 60s. Probability of precipitation, 20 per cent today, zero per cent tonight and 40 per cent tomorrow.

The remaining 21 counties have more severe pollution problems and would still have to meet specific pollution requirements, in other words, show cause why polluters need to have the two-year extension.

"We are convinced that the two-year extension of the deadline will provide sufficient time for all sources of sulfur dioxide to come into compliance with the state's present emission standards," said Dr. Whitman.

The state's retreat from its original standards is a bit mixed. For instance, it refuses to desert its ambient air quality standard (60 micrograms) for sulfur dioxide, although the federal government has lessened that demand.

Samuel A. Bleicher, deputy director for regulations and enforcement, gave the Ohio EPA position to a House subcommittee in Washington:

"We have found nothing in the scientific literature or the comments on the U.S. EPA proposal to indicate that either human health or the environment will be adequately protected at this less stringent level of ambient air quality," he testified.

However, among the proposed changes is one that would allow installation of air pollution control equipment for small gray iron foundry cupolas capable of removing only 85 per cent of the particulate matter from stack gasses before emission into the outside air.

The present state requirement is that control systems remove 90-95 per cent of particulates. The 5-10 per cent difference "would have no significant impact on the quality of Ohio's air," Dr. Whitman said.

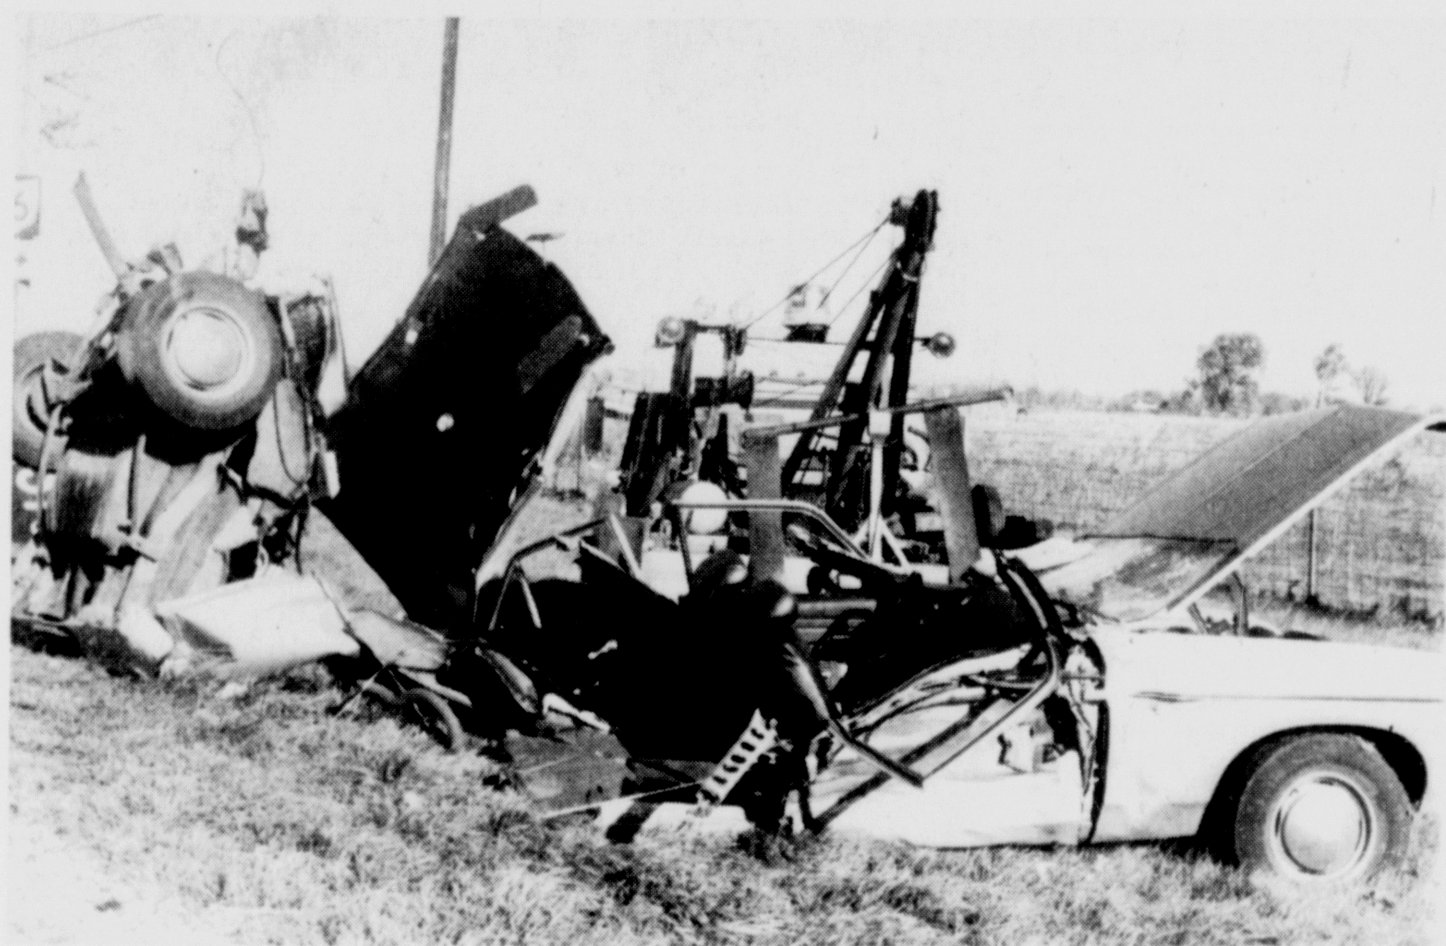

Bleicher said: "It is our hope and expectation that most sources of sulfur oxides will still be in compliance by July, 1975, and variances will be granted by the Ohio EPA with that goal in mind."

EPA particularly made the target of utilities in Washington testimony. "The electric utilities, so far as we can determine," said Bleicher, "are still unwilling to admit, despite the SOC-TAC report, their own Battelle Memorial Institute report, and other evidence, that stack gas scrubbing equipment can be contracted for now for installation over the next three and one-half years."

"Accordingly, we have begun enforcement action against the electric utilities, and we expect to hold adjudication hearings on these issues this fall."

In any case, Ohio's latest proposals on the pace with which the state's air should be cleaned still must have federal approval, even if they withstand the heat of ecologists in Columbus.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices headed lower today, continuing the downward slide begun Monday.

Declines led advances by a good margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Opening NYSE prices included Ford, down 1/2 to 51 3/4; Teledyne, down 1/8 to 13 3/8; Itek, up 1/4 to 25 1/2; Kerr-McGee, up 1 3/4 to 82 1/2; and American Home, off 1/2 to 43.

On Wednesday, prices fell for their third straight session, as the Dow plunged 11.96 points to 956.58. This came on the heels of a nearly 19 point drop over the previous two sessions.

Analysts said the downturn was in part a technical correction from the market's sharp rise from its Aug. 22 low.

Further adding to market weakness, they said, were worries over the mideast, Watergate, and the tightening oil supply situation.

Charge Boy In Slaying

WALTON, Ky. (AP) — A 15-year-old Walton boy was charged with wilful murder and rape Wednesday in the death of 11-year-old Laura Jo Ammer. Her body was found in the boy's bedroom Tuesday, police said. Boone County Coroner Don Stith said she had been strangled.

Police identified the charged youth as Eugene Davenport, who was at school when a neighborhood house-to-house search was made after the girl was reported missing Monday.

The youth pleaded innocent at a detention hearing in Boone County Juvenile Court. He will remain at the Northern Kentucky Reception Center at Crittenden, until a Nov. 16 hearing.

Stith said that while tests still are being conducted, a preliminary autopsy report shows the girl died as a result of strangulation.

He said that blood on the body and clothing of the girl indicated she was sexually assaulted.

2 Slaying Suspects Free

FARRELL, Pa. (AP) — Two men who police say are members of a motorcycle gang called "The Breed" have been released after authorities conceded a lack of evidence to hold them on charges of slaying a 20-year-old man.

Lorain, Ohio, police chief John Malinovsky said Wednesday David J. Byerly, 22, of Sharon, and John B. Gilkey, 34, of West Middlesex, were set free because a witness known only as "Speed" had refused to meet Pennsylvania police.

Malinovsky said the supposed eyewitness to the murder of Mark Allen Chancellor had talked with Lorain officers only once and didn't sign a statement then.

Meanwhile, the Cleveland Plain Dealer, said Lt. Joseph Salasala of the Pennsylvania state police barracks in Mercer County told Lt. Lorain officials have jeopardized the case against the Breed by releasing the names of the two cyclists.

Salasala was not available for comment Wednesday night.

once 300,000, but has dwindled to about 15,000 in the more than six years since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war closed the Suez Canal.

Eight blocks of drab, shellshattered apartments at the northern end of Suez are in Israeli hands. The Israelis say they also control all the land exits from the town; the Egyptians hold the rest and the port.

If there is hatred, it is not apparent. The clusters of Israelis and Egyptians on opposite sides of the street resemble pedestrians at a traffic light that doesn't turn green.

In the middle of the street, two blue-helmeted Finns from the U.N. Emergency Force sit by a field telephone. They might pass for traffic cops, but the only traffic they have to direct is an occasional Red Cross car.

Nobody on the Israeli side feels friendly toward the Arab troops; the fighting is still fresh in the soldiers' memories.

"There are bodies of our men still lying behind Egyptian lines," said one Israeli. Others said they have seen Egyptian soldiers across the street carrying Israeli submachine guns and wearing Israeli webbed belts.

The Israelis have planted two burned-out Egyptian trucks on their side of the street in full view of the Egyptians.

But a Canadian U.N. officer said he has spotted occasional exchanges of greetings across the street. One Israeli soldier hissed at a reporter who approached the truce line:

"Get out of here or the Egyptians will shoot you." Another soldier laughed and said: "Go ahead and talk to them — peace is breaking out all over this place."

"The Israelis are the same as us," said an Egyptian officer chatting amiably in the middle of the street, "no difference. I also have a wife and kids at home and I want to see them."

Behind an apartment house, Israeli troops brought out living room furniture that had survived the shelling and played checkers in the hot sun.

Two Appear In Common Pleas Court

Two persons appeared in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court this morning and two are scheduled for the afternoon session.

Appearing for sentencing on a charge of breaking and entering the Howard Phillips Inc. Construction Company was Ronald Keith Lowery from Hocking County. A charge of grand larceny had been dismissed earlier. Judge William Ammer placed Lowery on probation for three years.

Stipulations of the probation include not breaking any laws during the period of probation, maintain steady employment, pay the costs and make restitution in the amount of $134 within 90 days, not to associate with the other individuals involved in the crime and report for regular supervision to the adult parole authority of Pickaway County.

Mack David Showalter entered a negotiated plea of guilty to the charge of breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling in the day season. A charge of grand larceny was dismissed at the request of the council for the defense and approved by the county prosecutor.

Because of Showalter's previous record, Judge William Ammer sentenced him to 1-5 years in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Afternoon appearances will be made by Paul Michael Moorehead and Charles Ernest Haddock. Moorehead is charged with statutory rape and escaping from custody. Haddock will be appearing on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

Two Injured In County Accidents

Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn investigated a pair of injury accidents which occurred early Thursday morning in Pickaway County.

Deborah L. Duncan, 20, Lockbourne, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for injuries suffered when her car hit the rear of a parked truck 12:35 a.m. on Reynolds Road, one-tenth of a mile north of Route 752.

The truck driver, Darrell Hickman of Jackson, told Kuhn he had parked the truck on the right side of the road after having some motor trouble.

Jack R. Beekman, 25, Route 2, was cited by Kuhn for a stop sign violation after his car skidded across all four lanes of Route 23 and ended up in the ditch, tearing up a fence.

Beekman told Kuhn he was west-bound on Route 752 about 3 a.m. and failed to see the stop sign at Route 23 in time to stop. He said he applied the brakes but the car skidded across Route 23 on the wet pavement and went into the ditch. Beekman also claimed injury in the accident.

Stove Short Causes Fire

The Circleville Fire Department answered a call to 325 Avon Drive at 6:20 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Alan Shull called the department when she returned to her kitchen finding it blazing.

Probable cause of the fire was a short in the electric stove. Firemen estimated the damages to the house owned by Robert McNelley at $200. Approximately $400 worth of the kitchen contents were destroyed.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices headed lower today, continuing the downward slide begun Monday. Declines led advances by a good margin on the New York Stock Exchange. Opening NYSE prices included Ford, down 1/2 to 51 3/4; Teledyne, down 1/8 to 13 3/8; Itel, up 1/4 to 25 1/2; Kerr-McGee, up 1/4 to 82 1/2; and American Home, off 1/2 to 43. On Wednesday, prices fell for their third straight session, as the Dow plunged 11.96 points to 956.58. This came on the heels of a nearly 19 point drop over the previous two sessions. Analysts said the downturn was in part a technical correction from the market's sharp rise from its Aug. 22 low. Further adding to market weakness, they said, were worries over the mideast, Watergate, and the tightening oil supply situation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a professional telephone bugger gets tired of hearing:

"If you are so good at your work, why hasn't your name been brought out in the Watergate investigations?"

"What do you hear, Jake?"

"I want you to fix it so I can listen in on my wife's private conversation, but no one else can—and not even you."

"What would you charge to rent me some old tapes? I'm a television soap opera writer, and I'm looking for some material with true-to-life dialogue."

"I don't know how much my business partner paid you to tap my telephone, but if you can keep your trap shut I'll pay you twice as much to put a tap on his line for me. He must be stealing twice as much as I am."

"If you don't let me listen the next time you bug a movie star's apartment, Jake, I'll divorce you. As your wife, I should be entitled to get some pleasure out of this dirty work you're doing. Heaven knows it doesn't pay much."

"That was a good idea to bug the old man's dentures, Jake, but I haven't heard a word from him for an hour. Do you suppose he took them out and dunked them in a glass of water on his bedside table?"

"As your accountant, Jake, I have to say we are not doing too well. It is true that you earned $25,000 last year in blackmail money on which you didn't pay taxes, but, on the other hand, as you had to dish out $500 a week to keep the cops off your back, you'd have done better if you had spent the same time doing honest work, revolting as I know that must sound to you."

"As a man you taught the business to, Jake, even though we are rivals now, I feel I ought to tell you something as a professional courtesy. The cops hired me to put a tap on your bookie's phone, and I overheard him the other night ordering one of his strong boys to put the muscle on you if you don't pay what you owe him by Friday."

"Frankly, your medical problem has me puzzled, and I may have to call in a consultant. Just how long did you say you had this strange buzzing in your ears?"

"No, I don't want you to tape my business competitor's phone to learn his secrets. What I want you to do is to sell him on the idea of tapping our phones to learn our secrets. They are driving us bankrupt, and if he stole a few they might force him to the wall, too."

"Please, Daddy, don't read me anymore bedtime stories. Just draw me a few diagrams so I can show the other kids in my class how to cheat the telephone company."

"Hi, lover boy, come over right away and sneak in the back way. Don't worry about my husband. He's out on an allnight case. And Jake's such a big dumb ox he'd never think of putting a bug in his own bedroom."

Surprising Tax Trend

State taxes in recent years have been on an almost constant increase. In aggregate they rose $4 billion in 1969, and $5 billion in 1971, a record. Then came 1973, and a switch.

So far this year, the Tax Foundation reports, state taxes overall have decreased about $500 million. That is not nearly as dramatic a decline as recent increases have been, but it does set a new trend. Further, major tax abatement referendums will appear on several state ballots this November, raising the possibility of further tax reductions before year's end.

Some extraordinary pressures have been at work to make this possible. High tax rates in recent years combined with a high level of prosperity produced higher than anticipated tax revenues in many states. In the 12 months ending last March 31, state tax collections increased by $10 billion, to total of $66 billion.

If 1973 does end up with a small reduction in the tax load, it will not be because the states as a whole adopted austerity programs. To the contrary, most of the state budgets continue to rise annually.

Whatever the explanation, however, taxpayers will accept relief where it can be found, regardless of whether it proves only temporary.

White House Claims Nixon Clean On ITT

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials, breaking their silence in an effort to calm the rekindled ITT controversy, say they voluntarily supplied Archibald Cox with White House files on the antitrust settlement before he was fired as special Watergate prosecutor.

Documents in those files, one high-ranking official said, "do not show any personal involvement by the President in the terms of the ITT settlement in the summer of 1971."

In a memo uncovered by the Senate Watergate committee last August, former presidential aide Charles W. Colson said the secret documents would "directly involve the President" in the ITT scandal.

The comments Tuesday night by high-level White House officials — the first time they had spoken out on the issue — were clearly intended to rebut the Colson memo.

There were these other developments Tuesday in the controversy over the out-of-court settlement of the antitrust case against the huge conglomerate, International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The New York Times, quoting sources close to the Watergate prosecution, reported that President Nixon told then-Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst not to appeal a court ruling favorable to ITT in one aspect of the antitrust case.

White House spokesman Gerald L. Warren acknowledged the President had given the instruction to Kleindienst, contending he "had every right" to do so, but added that Nixon later withdrew the order after receiving more details about the case.

Despite their fierce reputation, the 10,000 Yanomamo people scattered over 42,000 square miles in Venezuela and northern Brazil often settle their differences with singing diplomats.

The Mad Weekend

By JEFFREY HART

The extraordinary reaction to the President's actions needs to be reflected upon, for it appears to have taken the White House completely by surprise. The rhetorical decibels at least equalled those evoked by the 1970 Cambodian invasion.

The AFL-CIO, Sen. Inouye and others loudly called for Richard Nixon's resignation. Two Congressmen, among others, compared him with Hitler, one evoking the beleaguered dictator "destroying himself in a bunker." College presidents began to mobilize, church leaders began growling, and law school deans issued a manifesto. It was a summer storm and flash flood of sudden emotion. Until Nixon agreed to surrender the tapes to Judge Sirica, who will edit out non-Watergate material, a kind of hysteria seemed imminent.

But was it objectively justified? What was it all about?

Where the tapes are concerned, neither Prosecutor Henry Petersen nor any grand jury is going to get the raw tapes. The only question at issue, as of Saturday, October 20, was whether the non-Watergate material would be screened out by Judge Sirica or by Sen. Stennis. That does not seem to be an earth-shaking question. Both are believed to be honest men. Indeed, Prosecutor Archibald Cox himself, it turns out, was not averse to the Stennis plan, but demurred from being restricted in his investigations into further reaches of the Executive branch, apparently on the theory that he had carte blanche to probe anywhere he pleased. Again, it does not seem earth-shaking for a Chief Executive to have resisted such an interpretation of the prosecutor's warrant.

No, the elements of the controversy at no point seem adequate to explain the storm of emotion. Nor, for that matter, do particular and seemingly accidental features of the affair: the late Friday Presidential announcement, which struck some as excessively shrewd timing, done in the dark as it were. Or the photographs of FBI agents sealing the prosecutors' offices, which struck the old "police state" nerve. These things perhaps contributed, but they are scarcely sufficient explanation.

It seems to me we may be reaching the point where President Nixon, however guilty or however innocent, has almost no credit left with much of the nation. It may be that after six months of myriad allegations and spectacular charges, however unproven, involving not only Watergate but San Clemente, income taxes, Bebe Rebozo's $100 thousand from Howard Hughes, and so forth, the public has crossed some threshold of psychic tolerance. Not all the public, but a large part of it. When the latest polls show 44 per cent in favor of impeachment, the only possible conclusion must be that the Administration has suffered a lesion of legitimacy.

Though Nixon was uninvolved in any of Spiro Agnew's transgressions, that affair may have been the psychological tipping point.

In a curious way, Nixon's critics have been waging a kind of political guerrilla war against him. And as the Vietnamese War demonstrated, sheer weariness plays an important part in such affairs. People want an end to it at almost any price. Perhaps a thing can come across on the TV screen only X number of times before it becomes intolerable. Without really believing him guilty of anything, a good many people may simply be tired of hearing about Nixon and his troubles. Agnew may have been Nixon's Tet.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Herald recently published a letter from David R. Treadwell Jr., Delaware, critical of the Pumpkin Show. The letter below is the answer sent to Mr. Treadwell by Ned Harden, vice president of Pumpkin Show Inc.

Dear Sir:

I have been forwarded a copy of your letter concerning your visit to the Circleville Pumpkin Show on Saturday October 20th.

Apparently you missed the great part of the Show, such as ...

Flower show, Home arts and crafts, baked goods, canned goods, fruits and vegetables, window trimming displays and many other features of the Greatest Free Show on Earth.

Unfortunately we are unable to keep it a FREE SHOW without the so-called honky tonk rides, refreshment stands and commercial exhibitors as there has to be someone to pay for the expenses of producing the show that you and your family may come without admission charge.

Your suggestion of cutting down on the crowds might help the situation somewhat and if we are going to cut down on the crowds and get some quality we would suggest that if you decide not to attend in the future that this would be a start in the right direction.

Sincerely,

NED W. HARDEN

Dear Editor:

A very important vote comes before the Westfall voters on Tuesday, November 6th and I hope and pray that wisdom will guide them in making the right decision.

I am quite aware that I am living in a predominately farming area, but I have to believe that farm people are just as concerned about adequate school facilities as the non-farmers. I am one of the non-farmers but I am concerned for the farmers and therefore they shall have my vote for Issue I.

Now what about the vote for the Bond Issue for the new Middle School at Westfall? I don't believe there should be a single eligible voter opposed to this issue. We don't have time to put off the approval for a Middle School. Our children deserve the best and right now every community in the entire Westfall district is getting less than the best.

Paying taxes are a privilege, not a burden and I hope I never grow too old or become too selfish that I would not want to do my part toward helping to see that our children have the proper facilities in helping them get a better education.

We elect a School Board from among our midst and in turn, they hire the best possible man for Superintendent. I believe we have the best in Mr. Gordon Massie. We ask them to run our schools to the best of their ability and if they feel we have a need for more facilities in an attempt to upgrade our children's education, then they should tell us.

As a voter, I do not even question their wisdom when they put the facts before us that there is a definite need for the Middle School and I feel that we voters should see that they get it. Westfall should never take a back seat to any school district in the state. I truly believe that we have the finest people in the country, right here in this district, and I cannot conceive that a majority would turn down such a great need.

Let's think positive when we cast that all important vote for the Middle School next Tuesday. Let's show all the children in our district that we really believe in them. We need the school NOW. Let's not put it off till later. It could be a costly mistake in so many ways.

Mrs. G. G., Ill.

Dear Mrs. G.:

Grandmothers have a little extra right to express their concern. Yet the fact that your doctor is not worried indicates that the child will undoubtedly grow to healthy manhood despite this birth deformity of the "rib cage."

A "pigeon breast" and a "funnel chest" are relatively unusual birth defects. In most instances, the contents of the chest, namely, the heart and the lungs, are rarely crowded or pushed out of their normal position.

X-rays of the chest can readily show if the birth defect in any way impinges on vital organs. As the child grows, there is less and less chance that pressure will be exerted on the heart and the lungs.

Occasionally, surgery is performed if any symptoms are associated with the condition. Modern surgical techniques are extremely safe and most gratifying.

It is important that the child be spared the seeling of embarrassment because his chest is "different" from that of others.

A great many young people with this and other slight physical defects manipulate their social activities in order to avoid revealing their problems.

For this, as well as for cosmetic reasons, the chest wall is repaired by surgery.

Dear Miss R.:

Itching of the skin can be caused by a variety of conditions.

Infections, allergies and drugs are the major reasons. In addition, heat and cold may be responsible.

In the wintertime, when the atmosphere indoors tends to be dry, the moisture of the skin evaporates, and can cause itching. This is referred to as "winter itch." People with sensitive skin complain similarly in warmer weather, when exposed to air-conditioning.

NEW YORK (AP) — What follows is a compilation of items that, reflected upon, may provide some insight into the condition of the American economy:

—The fuel shortage didn't erupt in the faces of unsuspecting officials, although it might appear that way. Government and industry researchers saw the problem developing a decade ago, but almost no coordinate effort was made to face it.

Same with food. Officials knew that while population was increasing, and that people the world over were improving their diets, the supply of food was not rising sufficiently to take care of demand.

Speaking at the Columbia Graduate School of Business a few days ago, C.W. Cook, chairman of General Foods Corp., observed:

"In 1965, President Johnson appointed a 30-man panel, called the National Commission on Food and Fiber, to make a thorough 18-month study of the subject in its broadest aspects."

"I was privileged to be a member along with topflight agribusiness economists from the academic world, farm leaders, other food processors, food retailers, and consumer representatives."

"Among other findings, our commission concluded that the trend of world demand was outpacing supply and would continue to do so unless massive steps were taken to achieve more of a balance."

"What happened as a result? In effect, nothing!"

—True or false: The United States is a have-not nation in regard to energy resources. False. The just-published "U.S. Industrial Outlook 1974," a Commerce Department publication, might bolster your confidence:

"It is reassuring that this country has almost unlimited energy potential in the form of coal and oil shale. More than half of the world's total reserves of coal are within the United States, and recoverable resources of oil shale are of roughly equal magnitude."

It adds that "large-scale" additions to the energy supply will come from solar and geothermal sources in the 1990s, and that nuclear fusion "could possibly supply energy indefinitely for a substantial part of the world's population."

—Many corporations are enjoying the most profitable year in their history, but that doesn't mean they're happy.

One after another they've boasted to stockholders and brokers about record high profits and then, lest the government was listening, added that price relief was necessary if profitability was to continue.

Union Carbide, for example, "expects the best year in the corporation's history," its chief financial officer, William Pardoe, told San Francisco security analysts this week.

That was half the story. Another officer then cautioned that rising costs of hydrocarbon feedstock and energy would require relief from price restrictions on its products now imposed by Phase 4.

—Pay raises to organized labor in this year of government controls contributed less to corporate stress, although they may have contributed a good deal to strained relations between labor and the administration.

The Labor Department reported that wage-benefit increases in major contract settlements for the first nine months dropped to 6.3 per cent over the life of contract from 7.4 per cent for the entire year 1972.

—There is an element that always believes Americans are into credit over their heads, despite the consistent repayment of that debt by borrowers. Now they have something substantial to think about.

Mortgage loan delinquencies, that is, seems to be edging higher. It might be too early to draw any conclusion other than statistical aberration, but the rate for September rose to .87 of one per cent, highest since February, and one of the highest for any month in the past five years.

Limestone sinkholes in southern Minnesota have engulfed whole plow teams, according to local tradition.

Some 400 million board feet of timber from dead Douglas fir trees may decay before loggers can cut the trees, this year.

A Page Of Opinion

Surprising Tax Trend

State taxes in recent years have been on an almost constant increase. In aggregate they rose $4 billion in 1969, and $5 billion in 1971, a record. Then came 1973, and a switch.

So far this year, the Tax Foundation reports, state taxes overall have decreased about $500 million. That is not nearly as dramatic a decline as recent increases have been, but it does set a new trend. Further, major tax abatement referendums will appear on several state ballots this November, raising the possibility of further tax reductions before year's end.

Some extraordinary pressures have been at work to make this possible. High tax rates in recent years combined with a high level of prosperity produced higher than anticipated tax revenues in many states. In the 12 months ending last March 31, state tax collections increased by $10 billion, to total of $66 billion.

If 1973 does end up with a small reduction in the tax load, it will not be because the states as a whole adopted austerity programs. To the contrary, most of the state budgets continue to rise annually.

Whatever the explanation, however, taxpayers will accept relief where it can be found, regardless of whether it proves only temporary.

The Mad Weekend

By JEFFREY HART

The extraordinary reaction to the President's actions needs to be reflected upon, for it appears to have taken the White House completely by surprise. The rhetorical decibels at least equalled those evoked by the 1970 Cambodian invasion.

The AFL-CIO, Sen. Inouye and others loudly called for Richard Nixon's resignation. Two Congressmen, among others, compared him with Hitler, one evoking the beleaguered dictator "destroying himself in a bunker." College presidents began to mobilize, church leaders began growling, and law school deans issued a manifesto. It was a summer storm and flash flood of sudden emotion. White House Claims Nixon Clean On ITT

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials, breaking their silence in an effort to calm the rekindled ITT controversy, say they voluntarily supplied Archibald Cox with White House files on the antitrust settlement before he was fired as special Watergate prosecutor.

Documents in those files, one high-ranking official said, "do not show any personal involvement by the President in the terms of the ITT settlement in the summer of 1971."

In a memo uncovered by the Senate Watergate committee last August, former presidential aide Charles W. Colson said the secret documents would "directly involve the President" in the ITT scandal.

The comments Tuesday night by high-level White House officials — the first time they had spoken out on the issue — were clearly intended to rebut the Colson memo.

There were these other developments Tuesday in the controversy over the out-of-court settlement of the antitrust case against the huge conglomerate, International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The New York Times, quoting sources close to the Watergate prosecution, reported that President Nixon told then-Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst not to appeal a court ruling favorable to ITT in one aspect of the antitrust case.

White House spokesman Gerald L. Warren acknowledged the President had given the instruction to Kleindienst, contending he "had every right" to do so, but added that Nixon later withdrew the order after receiving more details about the case.

Despite their fierce reputation, the 10,000 Yanomamo people scattered over 42,000 square miles in Venezuela and northern Brazil often settle their differences with singing diplomats.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

There IS A Time To Disobey

DEAR ABBY: I'm going to have to disagree with you on this one. Obedience to one's parents is not the highest and greatest good, not even for a 13-year-old.

Anyone, even a child, is morally obligated to disobey authority when authority demands something that violates the conscience. This principle was brought home to me by my eldest daughter when she was seven, upon her hearing the story of Abraham and Isaac for the first time. "It's wrong to kill," declared my precocious moralist, "and you should never do what you know is wrong, even if God tells you to." By the same principle, it is similarly wrong to refrain from doing good because one has been forbidden to do it.

Susan's friend, if she is sufficiently courageous, should tell her mother that she regrets the necessity of being disobedient, but that she cannot conscientiously be obedient in this instance. She should then offer to accept whatever reasonable punishment the mother may care to impose, and then endure the punishment with as much courtesy and stoicism as she can muster.

The kind of obedience you advocate for Susan's friend is qualitatively the same as that of the Nazis who were "only obeying orders" when they slaughtered Jews. The matter involved is not so serious as murder, that's all.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

DEAR FOOD: Your letter is more than "food for thought"—it's an intellectual banquet.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has the women in his office running errands all over town in his 1973 limousine. When I tell him it looks bad, he says their own cars are either falling apart or their gas tanks are empty.

I suggested that he buy a company station wagon and put the name of his company on the door, and have the girls run his errands in that. He says: "I'm not letting the small town gossips run my business just because they have poisoned your mind about how it looks." I told him I poisoned my own mind on the subject. Meanwhile, I drive a small economy car to run my errands.

What do you think about this?

THE POORER HALF

DEAR POORER: I can understand your annoyance at having your husband's women employees driving his '73 limousine all over town on errands, but there is a better reason for suggesting he get a company car. It would be a legitimate company expense and save gasoline!

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote saying she was "AT WITS END" because her 30-year-old widowed daughter let her housekeeping go while she did "unless" things like writing poetry, planting flowers, and taking ballet lessons. And she dragged her six-year-old son to museums and art exhibits.

("What can a six-year-old learn from an art exhibit?" she asks.)

I endorse your reply in which you defended the daughter, and would like to add that my parents "dragged" me to concerts, museums, and art exhibits when I was a toddler.

I was awakened one night to "come see the Northern Lights," and told of the Aurora Borealis. I saw Sousa in appearance in his native state. I was reading at the age of four, and soon afterwards my father opened his entire library to me, showing me how to handle books carefully—they were precious.

Abby, I bless my parents for showing me the beauty of the world. I continue to find life interesting and exciting. I am 79.

Three cheers for daughter.

OIC Barred From Talks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Industrial Commission was barred by a federal judge Wednesday from intervening in contract negotiations between the Ohio Power Co. and the striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

In an injunction sought by the company, U.S. District Judge Joseph Kinneary also said the commission may not make public any findings from its Oct. 25 hearing on the strike.

The company contended the federal government, not the state agency has jurisdiction in the dispute.

The commission had planned to recommend a solution to the problem, although the company would not agree that the recommendations would be binding.

The IBEW went on strike in July.

The two sides were scheduled to hold a bargaining session today in Zanesville.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

There IS A Time To Disobey

DEAR ABBY: I'm going to have to disagree with you on this one. Obedience to one's parents is not the highest and greatest good, not even for a 13-year-old.

Anyone, even a child, is morally obligated to disobey authority when authority demands something that violates the conscience. This principle was brought home to me by my eldest daughter when she was seven, upon her hearing the story of Abraham and Isaac for the first time. "It's wrong to kill," declared my precocious moralist, "and you should never do what you know is wrong, even if God tells you to." By the same principle, it is similarly wrong to refrain from doing good because one has been forbidden to do it.

Susan's friend, if she is sufficiently courageous, should tell her mother that she regrets the necessity of being disobedient, but that she cannot conscientiously be obedient in this instance. She should then offer to accept whatever reasonable punishment the mother may care to impose, and then endure the punishment with as much courtesy and stoicism as she can muster.

The kind of obedience you advocate for Susan's friend is qualitatively the same as that of the Nazis who were "only obeying orders" when they slaughtered Jews. The matter involved is not so serious as murder, that's all.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

DEAR FOOD: Your letter is more than "food for thought"—it's an intellectual banquet.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has the women in his office running errands all over town in his 1973 limousine. When I tell him it looks bad, he says their own cars are either falling apart or their gas tanks are empty.

I suggested that he buy a company station wagon and put the name of his company on the door, and have the girls run his errands in that. He says: "I'm not letting the small town gossips run my business just because they have poisoned your mind about how it looks." I told him I poisoned my own mind on the subject. Meanwhile, I drive a small economy car to run my errands.

What do you think about this?

THE POORER HALF

DEAR POORER: I can understand your annoyance at having your husband's women employees driving his '73 limousine all over town on errands, but there is a better reason for suggesting he get a company car. It would be a legitimate company expense and save gasoline!

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote saying she was "AT WITS END" because her 30-year-old widowed daughter let her housekeeping go while she did "unless" things like writing poetry, planting flowers, and taking ballet lessons. And she dragged her six-year-old son to museums and art exhibits.

("What can a six-year-old learn from an art exhibit?" she asks.)

I endorse your reply in which you defended the daughter, and would like to add that my parents "dragged" me to concerts, museums, and art exhibits when I was a toddler.

I was awakened one night to "come see the Northern Lights," and told of the Aurora Borealis. I saw Sousa in appearance in his native state. I was reading at the age of four, and soon afterwards my father opened his entire library to me, showing me how to handle books carefully—they were precious.

Abby, I bless my parents for showing me the beauty of the world. I continue to find life interesting and exciting. I am 79.

Three cheers for daughter.

Farm Products Prices Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices farmers received for raw products dropped four per cent in October, the second consecutive monthly decline, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

The decline was prompted mainly by reduced prices for cattle, hogs, wheat, broilers and eggs, the Crop Reporting Board said. Higher prices, however, were reported for some items, including milk, rice, dry beans, oranges and grapefruit.

Despite the drop, computed as of Oct. 15, the report showed farm prices still averaged 42 per cent above a year earlier.

In September the price index plummeted 8 per cent for the sharpest one month decline in more than 25 years. Even so, the two successive price dips did not offset a record 20 per cent jump from July 15 to August 15.

Officials said that based on 1967 levels, the October price index was the third highest on record, an average of 184 per cent, compared with 191 in September and a record 207 in August.

As a group, meat animal prices declined 9 per cent during the month. Beef cattle, including all types, average $42.60 per hundredweight. That was down $4.60 from September and $9.10 from the record set in August. A year ago cattle averaged $34.40 per hundredweight.

Hogs were $40.80 per 100 pounds, off $3 from September and $15.70 from the August peak. In October last year they averaged $27.40 per hundredweight.

Wheat was $4.22 per bushel, down from $4.62 in September, but still was well above the $1.89 reported a year earlier. Corn averaged $2.17 per bushel, up 2 cents from September and 98 cents more than in October 1972.

Soybeans were $5.63 per bushel, down from $5.81 in September and $8.99 in August. Upland cotton averaged about 43.6 cents per pound, compared with almost 44.6 in September.

Milk sold for fluid purposes brought farmers $8.49 per 100 pounds as of Oct. 15, up from $8.10 in September, the report said. As a group dairy prices were up 6 per cent during the month and 26 per cent more than a year earlier.

Fuel Allocation Guidelines Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Starting next week, an official of the U.S. Department of Interior will be assigned to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to interpret federal guidelines on allocation of fuel oil.

Regulations govern allocation of kerosene, home heating oil, diesel fuel and stove oil.

"What we are facing is an extremely complex and disturbing situation in which there are very few guidelines," said PUCO Chairman Edmund Turk.

Stanley Kitts, federal allocation officer, will act on requests for new or increased allocations, Turk said.

A bride and groom topped the cake, and on either side were the grooms cake topped with sugared bells and orange, rust and yellow roses. At the end of the table was the punch bowl, a gift to the bride and groom. Ivy, and yellow and rust mums surrounded the cake and the punch bowl.

Winter Wheat Planting Up, But Still Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)— Fall planting of winter wheat for harvest next year gained sharply in Kansas and other plains areas by last weekend, but the crop was still behind normal schedule, the Agriculture Department says.

“By Oct. 28, winter wheat seeding had advanced to 80 per cent complete in Kansas, 92 per cent complete in Oklahoma, 91 per cent in Texas and about 100 per cent complete in Colorado,” the department said Tuesday in a weekly weather bulletin.

Normally, winter wheat planting is 95 per cent done in Kansas by Oct. 28, the report said. In many areas heavy rain delayed planting for weeks or washed out many acres which already had been seeded.

That has prevented early growth of wheat in much of the plains area where the crop normally provides valuable grazing for livestock and helps assure survival against extreme cold during winter months.

Over-all, last week’s sunny weather helped the fall harvest of corn and soybeans over a wide area. In the Corn Belt, the corn harvest was 38 per cent complete by Oct. 28, ahead of the 32 per cent rate last year. Nationally, about 43 per cent of the crop was picked.

But the western area of the Corn Belt still had harvest hangups, the report said. The Iowa crop was about 26 per cent harvested, compared with 29 per cent in 1972 and the historical average of 38 per cent complete by Oct. 28.

The soybean crop nationally was about 64 per cent harvested by Oct. 28, compared with 56 per cent last year, the report said.

Fund Juggling In Laos Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee is seeking to determine whether the State Department deliberately underestimated its embassy staffing needs in Laos to Congress in order to minimize the U.S. presence there.

For whatever reasons, the Government Accounting Office (GAO) said Tuesday, the U.S. embassy in Vientiane, Laos, violated State Department staffing practices by supplementing its personnel with dozens more hired locally.

Norman Cornish, deputy staff director for the House Government Operations subcommittee on foreign operations, told a hearing Tuesday that the State Department apparently violated personnel regulations "in order to keep a low profile in Laos."

"Now they're having to admit they didn't ask enough money to do the job and they had to violate the rules with local hires," Cornish said.

Frank C. Conahan, associate director of the GAO's international division, said the embassy did have an abnormally small American staff.

He said he had no idea what Congress would have done if it had known the true extent of U.S. involvement in Laos between 1971 and 1973.

Conahan recommended that Congress ask for records on the local residents hired under State Department contracts at every other installation throughout the world.

Investigators for the GAO and the Agency for International Development (AID) told the subcommittee that the embassy also violated State Department rules in building a swimming pool for the ambassador and kept such sloppy books so that it is impossible to track down $2 million worth of surplus military equipment the embassy requisitioned from Thailand.

AID investigators continue to examine the financial records of the top two officials under the ambassador to determine whether they made illegal financial gains as alleged by two former government officials in Kerner, a Democrat, already faces a prison term for bribery, conspiracy, mail fraud and tax evasion.

Court records indicate the papers were appraised at $73,375 by a Lincoln scholar.

Grandma, 72, Hitchhikes To College Classes Daily

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Elaine S. Camfield, a 72-year-old grandmother, hitchhikes eight miles to classes every day.

She's convinced she can earn a college degree while thumbing rides with her best "old lady's smile."

"I've got it down to a science," says the communications major at Florida Technological University. The technique has worked for two years already.

Mrs. Camfield, who figures she has "30 years of living yet," each day rides a bus to a busy Orlando intersection. "Then I walk up to a car and request a ride the remaining eight miles," she said.

Last week, while standing at her favorite intersection, she smiled at the wrong car. An Orange County sheriff's deputy told her she'd have to find a new spot where she wouldn't disrupt traffic.

A former nurse and parttime tutor, she says she took to hitchhiking when bus transportation proved inadequate but has learned a lot about people in her two years.

"It gives you a terrific perspective about people," she said.

She said she was once refused a ride by a man holding a gun on her while she inquired.

"I had a minister change his mind about picking up hitchhikers," she said of one ride. "He even did a sermon about me."

Mrs. Camfield left college to get married years ago and doesn't know when she will complete her degree requirements. "I always get off on special projects which aren't for course credit," she said.

For young people, Mrs. Camfield says, "College is like hors d'oeuvres ... for me it's like after-dinner coffee and I have a lot of sipping to do."

Gurney Supports Saxbe For Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, probably will be confirmed by the Senate if President Nixon chooses him as the next U.S. attorney general, Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., told Ohioans Wednesday night.

He said at a news conference that he regards Saxbe "as one of the most delightful, warmest people I have ever known in public life" and said he sees no problem with Saxbe's occasional sharp criticism of the Nixon Administration.

"I think we need more candor in public life. Sen. Saxbe is widely respected in the Senate, and I think he will be confirmed without too much trouble unless we get into a big argument over the special prosecutor," he said.

Amendment Backed By State Democrats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to streamline Ohio's system of courts has been endorsed by the state Democratic party.

But state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said Tuesday he objects to a provision that would permit judges to receive pay raises while in office.

Help Save Open Space in Ohio. Vote "Yes" on Issue #1
Save Open Space
Pd. for by Pickaway County Farm Bureau — Dale Bower Pres.

Gurney's apparent reference was to Saxbe's public pronouncements that the choice of a special prosecutor to investigate Watergate would have to be a person who would be given total independence.

Gurney said he had had a busy day and was not prepared to comment on disclosures that two of the presidential Watergate tapes were missing and allegedly never did exist.

"I don't know a thing about it. I haven't had a chance to read the news dispatches," he said, adding "of course, I have heard the reports."

Gurney, who met with newsmen following a speech before about 200 members of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, declined comment on Miami Herald newspaper stories that the Justice Department is investigating a "Gurney Booster Fund" into which Florida contractors allegedly paid more than $300,000 in 1971 and 1972.

He said the newspaper "has been printing these stories for about two-and-one-half months, since I asked Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Peterson to investigate."

He declined to remain on the subject, telling reporters "The Justice Department asked me not to comment while the investigation is on-going. Can we please turn to something else?"

Wednesday's story in the Herald said Florida contractors paid more than $300,000 in cash to Larry E. Williams, a former Gurney aide, and that the money never was reported as a political contribution, as required by law. Gurney consistently has denied any link with alleged financial wrongdoing by Williams.

In his speech, Gurney said he thinks "it would not be exaggerating to say there never has been a more troubled time in our nation's history." He asserted one way to ease the problem is for members of both parties of Congress and the American people "to affect a cease fire with President Nixon."

He said "this nation is badly in need of a domestic truce—a cooling off period."

As part of the truce, Gurney proposed that:

—President Nixon appoint a new special prosecutor "such as Elliot Richardson" who could not be fired without congressional approval.

—The presidential tapes be made public at once.

—The matter of White House documents be settled by a third person who would submit any evidence of wrongdoing to the special prosecutor.

—Congress take action immediately on the confirmation of Vice President Designate Gerald Ford.

—Congress halt all impeachment proposals and procedures until all criminal investigation is completed.

—American people review the news they receive through the media with "a careful and analytical attitude. Don't accept news leaks, rumors, and innuendo at face value until the truth is known and the facts are proven."

4 Pupils Killed As Bus, Truck Crash In Storm

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — Four teenagers were killed Wednesday when their school bus and a semi-trailer truck collided at an intersection during a rainstorm in this Ohio River town.

Only 17 pupils were aboard the bus, which normally is filled to its 36-passenger capacity. A number of students had stayed at school for an athletic event.

The dead pupils were identified by hospital authorities as Brenda Burchfield, 14, Steven Walters, 15, Ernest Kessler, 14, and his sister, Janet, 15.

Six other pupils were hospitalized, most of them in critical condition. The other pupils, the bus driver and the truck driver were treated and released.

Store Owner Gunned Down

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A wound from a gunman's bullet three years ago and urgings by a nephew to move his business failed to change 78-year-old Nathan Fink's mind. He planned to keep his dry goods business at the location where he started it almost 20 years ago.

Wednesday, Fink was shot to death at his store.

"I tried to tell him that although this was a nice neighborhood when he started, it had changed," said Fink's nephew, Maurice Schucart, who was with his uncle during the 1970 shooting and Wednesday's fatal encounter.

"I tried to tell him that money wouldn't do him any good if he was dead," said Schucart.

Police are seeking three suspects.

High Court Rules For Cincy Man

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has ruled in favor of a Cincinnati man in his personal injury suit against the city of Norwood.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Court had ruled in favor of the plaintiff, but the appeals court reversed that decision because the trial court refused a defense request for the jury to be charged as to Presley's knowledge of the hazard.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland millionaire Howard Metzenbaum is considered by political observers to be the frontrunner for appointment to Sen. William Saxbe's Senate seat if Saxbe resigns to become U.S. attorney general.

Saxbe is expected to be nominated by President Nixon for the cabinet post. Saxbe met with Nixon Wednesday and said afterward he was "relatively sure" he will get the appointment.

If Saxbe gets the job, Gov. John Gilligan must appoint someone to the Senate seat. Under the law, he can name anyone he wants—and it's likely

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

Rains which fell on all sections of Ohio Wednesday afternoon and evening ended over most of the state during the night, following a cold front moving eastward into Pennsylvania and New York.

While a chance of light showers near Lake Erie in northeastern Ohio exists today, skies will be only partly cloudy over most of the state as brisk west winds bring in cool and drier air.

However, the National Weather Service said winds at high altitudes are strong, so that weather systems are moving rather rapidly. A low pressure system situated over the eastern Rockies Thursday morning is forecast to move to Illinois Friday, giving a chance of rain again in Ohio Friday or Friday night.

Meanwhile temperatures Thursday afternoon will be in the upper 40s or low 50s, and drop under fair skies tonight to between 35 and 40 degrees. Readings Friday afternoon are expected in the 50s and low 60s, along with increasing cloudiness.

his choice will be a fellow Democrat. Saxbe is a Republican.

A spokesman for Gilligan said the governor will not appoint anyone to the seat until Saxbe is confirmed as attorney general by the Senate.

"We are sure that Saxbe will not resign until he is confirmed," said Robert Tenenbaum, the governor's press secretary.

Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn of Columbus are considered the main contenders for Saxbe's seat.

Metzenbaum defeated Glenn in the 1972 Democratic primary for the Senate nomination and then was beaten in the general election by Sen. Robert Taft Jr.

Metzenbaum appears to have the edge over Glenn for the appointment.

U.S. Rep. Delbert R. Latta, R-Ohio, noted in a Toledo interview Wednesday, "It's no secret that Gov. Gilligan has been trying to get Howard Metzenbaum into office."

Glenn charged recently that Gilligan and the state party organization were trying to shove the 1974 Democratic Senate nomination Metzenbaum's way.

The ex-astronaut accused them of "bossism." He said Gilligan wanted him to drop out of the Senate race and run for lieutenant governor in order to strengthen the Democratic ticket. Glenn said he had no desire to be lieutenant governor.

Glenn has had trouble getting his campaigns started in the past.

A bathroom fall in 1964 put him out of the running in a scheduled primary battle with then U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio. In 1972, Glenn ran a disorganized campaign and lost to Metzenbaum, primarily because the young and party stalwarts, including organized labor, backed the Cleveland.

If Saxbe is named attorney general, he will be the sixth Ohioan to serve at the post.

The most recent was Harry W. Dougherty of Washington Court House.

He held the office in 1921-24.

Edwin M. Stanton of Steubenville was attorney general in 1860 and Henry Stanberry of Columbus served from 1866 to 1868.

Alphonso Taft of Cincinnati held the post 1876-77, and Judson Harmon, also of Cincinnati, was attorney general from 1895 to 1897.

VOTERS OF CIRCLEVILLE TWP.

Tuesday, Nov. 6th is election day. I John D. Robinson, am running for Circleville Twp. Trustee on the Non-Partisan ticket.

Four candidates are on the tickets. None of these have been elected by the voters. Two were appointed to fill unexpired terms by the two other trustees. I want to be one of the two elected on Tuesday by the voters of Circleville Twp.

Circleville Twp. has only 9 miles of Township roads. This is one-third of the 27 miles that the average Pickaway Township has to maintain. For this reason Circleville Twp. roads should be the best in the county.

Circleville Twp. is the most affluent township in Pickaway County. In 1972 we took in $109,000 and spent only $67,000. We had $113,000 on hand Dec. 31, 1972. In 1972 we averaged about $100,000 on hand for the year. We picked up $1650 interest on this money. I believe we could increase this amount by about $3000. This $3000 per year would not cost you anything. In ten years it could amount to a $30,000 bonus to Circleville Twp.

If elected, I will make a monthly report of my activities as Trustee. (Dates, amount of time involved, etc.) You may thus judge my performance and keep yourself abreast of the affairs of Circleville Twp.

4 Pupils Killed As Bus, Truck Crash In Storm

MADISON, Ind. (AP) — Four teenagers were killed Wednesday when their school bus and a semi-trailer truck collided at an intersection during a rainstorm in this Ohio River town.

Only 17 pupils were aboard the bus, which normally is filled to its 36-passenger capacity. A number of students had stayed at school for an athletic event.

The dead pupils were identified by hospital authorities as Brenda Burchfield, 14, Steven Walters, 15, Ernest Kessler, 14, and his sister, Janet, 15.

Six other pupils were hospitalized, most of them in critical condition. The other pupils, the bus driver and the truck driver were treated and released.

Store Owner Gunned Down

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A wound from a gunman's bullet three years ago and urgings by a nephew to move his business failed to change 78-year-old Nathan Fink's mind. He planned to keep his dry goods business at the location where he started it almost 20 years ago.

Wednesday, Fink was shot to death at his store.

"I tried to tell him that although this was a nice neighborhood when he started, it had changed," said Fink's nephew, Maurice Schucart, who was with his uncle during the 1970 shooting and Wednesday's fatal encounter.

"I tried to tell him that money wouldn't do him any good if he was dead," said Schucart.

Police are seeking three suspects.

High Court Rules For Cincy Man

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has ruled in favor of a Cincinnati man in his personal injury suit against the city of Norwood.

In a unanimous decision Wednesday, the court reversed an appeals court decision against Norman Presley, injured in a fall in a puddle of water at a city safety inspection lane March 6, 1967.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Court had ruled in favor of the plaintiff, but the appeals court reversed that decision because the trial court refused a defense request for the jury to be charged as to Presley's knowledge of the hazard.

Tigers End SCOL Season At Hillsboro Friday

Circleville, 2-3 in league play and 3-5 for the season, will wrap up its South Central Ohio League season Friday night when the Tigers travel to Hillsboro to meet the rapidly improving Indians.

"This is a must win game for us if we are going to wind-up the season with a 50-50 mark." Circleville coach Larry Cook stated. "It's a very critical game for us as it will test the pride and character of our kids. We are out of the championship race and will be playing for self respect.

"Our kids showed the type effort they are capable against Washington

C. H. and will be out to show that it was no mistake. We certainly respect Hillsboro as they are just coming into their own and we are looking for a real battle Friday night," Cook said.

Hillsboro is 2-2 in league play and 2-6 for the season. But the Indians have won their last two games and will be eagerly awaiting the arrival of the Tigers.

The Indians offense will move from various formations, including slot T with I backs or split backs, pro sets with I backs or split backs and a full house power I with a split end.

On defense Hillsboro will employ a 5-4-2 and a seven diamond goal line with zone pass coverage.

Hastings and Captain give the Indians a strong running game and quarterback Marsh has a pair of fine receivers in Jewett and Welch.

Starting on offense for Hillsboro will be: Jewett, 170-pound, and Lyle, 140-pound, ends; Fuller, 230-pound, and Zink, 180-pound, tackles; Pegan, 160-pound, and Kelly, 180-pound, guards; Hass, 165-pound, center; Marsh, 175-pound, quarterback; Hastings, 165-pound, fullback; Captain, 155-pound, tailback; Welch, 140-pound, wingback.

Circleville coaches named Eddy Richter the offensive Tiger of the week for his hard-nose running against Washington C. H. Pat McNaughton was named defensive Tiger of the week for his 14 tackles and fine run support and pursuit against the Lions.

Myers Said Best OSU Center Ever

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Woody Hayes has favored small centers in his 23 Ohio State University coaching seasons. Hulking Steve Myers is changing Hayes' mind.

"He's a heckuva guy," Hayes said of the 6-foot-2, 247-pound junior, whose consistent blocking has helped make the Buckeyes the No. 1 college team in the nation this fall.

Myers plays in the shadow of such offensive line standouts as All-America tackle John Hicks and guard Jim Kregel. His coaches are sold on Myers though.

"He's the best center in the Big Ten," said Ed Ferkany, who coaches the Buckeyes' guards and centers. "We have 70-75 per cent consistency. You don't do that without an exceptional center."

Ferkany contends Myers has the toughest assignment in the Buckeyes' famed ground attack.

"We run inside pretty well and we don't double team much on blocking," Ferkany said. "It takes great athletic ability to do what we ask."

Hayes calls the current line the equal to any he's had in his long Ohio State tenure.

Myers' blocking is a principal reason. Just last week against Northwestern, he graded 82 per cent, the best of any of the interior linemen, including Hicks.

Myers fights a continuous weight problem. He eats nothing Thursday and Friday before a game "except the meat they serve on the training table. I feel better and cut off a few pounds."

Myers is one of the most durable players for Ohio State, which takes a 6-0 record into its Big Ten game at Illinois Saturday. The two share the conference lead with Michigan at 4-0.

He constantly plays with pain. He separated a shoulder in spring practice and kept practicing. He twisted an ankle on the opening day of fall drills and continued running after a short break for tape. He dislocated his fibula at Indiana and missed only two practice days.

The only time the son of the Kent police chief has been sidelined was in the 1973 Rose Bowl. He was hospitalized with mononucleosis while the Buckeyes took a 42-17 beating from Southern California.

Booster Club Sets Junior High Fete

The Circleville Athletic Booster Club will hold its annual Junior High School fall sports banquet 6 p.m. Monday at the high school cafeteria.

The seventh and eighth grade and freshman football teams will be honored at the affair.

It will be a carry-in dinner with milk and rolls being furnished by the Booster Club. The public is invited and everyone must provide their own table service.

The senior high fall sports banquet, honoring the cross country and football teams, will be held Nov. 12 at the high school.

Postpone Deadline On Soap Box Derby

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The All-American Soap Box Derby has pushed back its deadline for finding a permanent sponsor to Nov. 16, Derby officials reported. The previous deadline was Nov. 10.

General Manager Paul C. Livick said Wednesday the prospects haven't changed over the past month. But he said one of the reasons for postponing the deadline was a Nov. 12 meeting of the Akron Area Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the 1973 race.

Field Goal Percentage Above .500

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time ever, major college field goal kickers are making good on more than 50 per cent of their attempts.

The national field goal percentage is .512, well above the all-time mark of .487 set in 1970.

Leading the field goal boom is Tom Goedjen of Iowa State, who as a sophomore last year missed a point after touchdown attempt that would have beaten Nebraska. The next game he missed four field goal attempts in a 6-5 loss to Missouri.

He finished last season 10-for-30 in field goals, but this year has hit 13 of 17 attempts and leads major college kickers in scoring with an 8.5 points per game average.

Brigham Young's Jay Miller continues to dominate receiving statistics, averaging 8.7 catches per game and 607 total yards. Walt Walker of Davidson, is second with a 5.9 average while Hank Cook of New Mexico State is third with 5.3.

James Sykes of Rutgers has regained the lead in kickoff returns, with a 32.9 average compared to Carl Roaches of Texas A&M, with 29.6.

Danny Colbert of Tulsa has averaged 19.8 per punt return to edge Tom Fleming of Dartmouth, with 19.4, in that category.

Mike Gow of Illinois, Mickey Connolly of Holy Cross and Tony Pawlik of Rutgers are tied for the lead in interceptions, each averaging one per game.

Rookies Set For Action With Bengals

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals, who hope to rest leading rusher Essex Johnson, may go with a pair of rookie running backs part of the time Sunday in their first-ever National Football League meeting with the Dallas Cowboys.

Coach Paul Brown has indicated he may use Levil Elliott, a 10th round draft, and first-year sensation Charles "Boobie" Clark.

Elliott, from Northeast Missouri State College, would share duties with Johnson and another reserve, Reece Morrison.

Brown said the 5-foot-9 Johnson has been showing the effects of the beatings he's been taking. Brown wants to "give him relief and let him get his breath."

Johnson and Clark have gained 580 and 517 yards respectively.

Elliott, 6-foot-1, 205 pounds, kept a job with his hard-running and good speed.

"I don't see how they can keep him out of there," said defensive back Tommy Casanova.

Brown said defensive tackle Mike Reid's playing status is still in doubt, but he said he hopes 1972 pass-catching sensation Chip Myers will be back from a hamstring pull.

Rams Drop In NC Loop Team Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, shackled last week by Minnesota in their 10-9 loss to the unbeaten Vikings, fell from first to third in National Conference total team offense, National Football League statistics showed today.

The Dallas Cowboys, despite being upset by Philadelphia, moved up from second to first and the Eagles edged from third to second in the NFC.

The Rams, however, remained the conference's most potent rushing team and the St. Louis Cardinals, behind Jim Hart's four-touchdown performance last Sunday against the New York Giants, stayed on top in NFC passing.

In NFC defense, the Rams remained No. 1 both in total defense and in stopping the rush. The Atlanta Falcons continued to be the best against the pass.

In the American Conference, the Denver Broncos, with Charley Johnson at quarterback, stayed as the total offense and passing leaders while Buffalo, with O.J. Simpson pounding out 1,025 yards, remained the runaway running leaders.

The Cleveland Browns and Miami Dolphins are tied for first in total defense with the Pittsburgh Steelers strongest against the rush and the New England Patriots best against the pass.

Tigers End SCOL Season At Hillsboro Friday

Circleville, 2-3 in league play and 3-5 for the season, will wrap up its South Central Ohio League season Friday night when the Tigers travel to Hillsboro to meet the rapidly improving Indians.

Turn Back Jets, 6-4

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Cleveland Crusaders decided to control versatile Bobby Hull by letting him run loose, and the strategy led them to a 6-4 victory over the Winnipeg Jets Wednesday night.

"The key to stopping this line is letting Hull freewheel and do his thing," Coach Bill Needham explained after the game. Instead, the Crusaders clamped down on the Jets' other two high scorers, Christian Bordeleau and Norm Beaudin. Each of the trio scored more than 10 points last season.

Sohio Cuts Some Fuel Deliveries

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio (Sohio) has warned its bulk fuel oil, diesel fuel and jet fuel customers that their deliveries will be cut by 25 per cent beginning today.

Sohio said the cutbacks, authorized under new federal fuel guidelines, would affect only the so-called "middle distillates" such as fuel oil, kerosene, jet fuel, diesel fuel or stove oil.

Gasoline and lubricating oil sales would not be affected, a spokesman said. And he said no decision had been made on limiting deliveries of heating oil to homes and schools.

"We have to use common sense," he said but noted the sales were being studied.

The decision to cut back diesel oil sales was attacked by one of the affected agencies, the Cleveland Transit System.

CTS Board Chairman Nicholas Bucur said the cutbacks would only put buses out of business and force more cars onto the road, eventually creating gasoline shortages.

CTS General Manager Robert T. Pollock said service would have to be cut drastically within two months if the cutbacks remained in force. He said the system might have to drop weekend and evening buses as well as some CTS routes.

Pollock said the system had sent a representative to Washington, D.C., to see if public transportation allocations could be beefed up.

The Sohio cutbacks were not announced in advance, although they generally had been predicted. Bus lines, airlines, railroads and trucking companies that buy from Sohio were notified by form letter.

Among those affected by the cutbacks were CTS, the Penn Central railroad, jet fuel distributors at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport and the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

Sohio provides fuel oil and diesel fuel to the commission, but all of the fuel is used in commission buildings or for turnpike equipment.

Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy, who successfully fought earlier efforts to ration gasoline at Turnpike stations, said Wednesday night the commission would agree to the cutbacks if they complied to federal law.

But he noted that the four retail distributors along the Turnpike—Texaco, Gulf, Atlantic Richfield and Mobil—had not notified the commission of any plans to allocate fuels.

United Air Lines, the biggest buyer of jet fuel at the airport, said it would try to conserve fuel, refuel at other cities where possible and try to minimize the cutbacks' effect without schedule changes.

A Penn Central spokesman said the railroad had anticipated the cutbacks and that no immediate schedule changes were planned.

"We buy from more than one source, but they probably all will have to allocate fuel," he said.

Impeachment Call Nixed By Church

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) concluded a five-day General Assembly Wednesday by defeating a resolution seeking the impeachment of President Nixon.

Calling the resolution "more far-reaching than it first seemed," delegates turned back the action in a voice vote.

"They felt it was prejudgmental," said a church spokesman.

The delegates did approve two resolutions urging the government "to complete prosecution of all criminal offenses related to the Watergate affair."

The President was requested to "cooperate to the fullest with the appropriate courts and committees as one step in restoration of the public's trust in governmental bodies."

The delegates called on the three governmental branches "to insure no person is above the law."

Also approved were resolutions endorsing the Equal Rights Amendment, tougher strip mining laws and farm workers' efforts to organize.

Delegates also urged the church to support individuals who have to face the question of whether or not to have an abortion.

Sohio Cuts Some Fuel Deliveries

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio (Sohio) has warned its bulk fuel oil, diesel fuel and jet fuel customers that their deliveries will be cut by 25 per cent beginning today.

Sohio said the cutbacks, authorized under new federal fuel guidelines, would affect only the so-called "middle distillates" such as fuel oil, kerosene, jet fuel, diesel fuel or stove oil.

Gasoline and lubricating oil sales would not be affected, a spokesman said. And he said no decision had been made on limiting deliveries of heating oil to homes and schools.

"We have to use common sense," he said but noted the sales were being studied.

The decision to cut back diesel oil sales was attacked by one of the affected agencies, the Cleveland Transit System.

CTS Board Chairman Nicholas Bucur said the cutbacks would only put buses out of business and force more cars onto the road, eventually creating gasoline shortages.

CTS General Manager Robert T. Pollock said service would have to be cut drastically within two months if the cutbacks remained in force. He said the system might have to drop weekend and evening buses as well as some CTS routes.

Pollock said the system had sent a representative to Washington, D.C., to see if public transportation allocations could be beefed up.

The Sohio cutbacks were not announced in advance, although they generally had been predicted. Bus lines, airlines, railroads and trucking companies that buy from Sohio were notified by form letter.

Among those affected by the cutbacks were CTS, the Penn Central railroad, jet fuel distributors at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport and the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

Sohio provides fuel oil and diesel fuel to the commission, but all of the fuel is used in commission buildings or for turnpike equipment.

Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy, who successfully fought earlier efforts to ration gasoline at Turnpike stations, said Wednesday night the commission would agree to the cutbacks if they complied to federal law.

But he noted that the four retail distributors along the Turnpike—Texaco, Gulf, Atlantic Richfield and Mobil—had not notified the commission of any plans to allocate fuels.

United Air Lines, the biggest buyer of jet fuel at the airport, said it would try to conserve fuel, refuel at other cities where possible and try to minimize the cutbacks' effect without schedule changes.

A Penn Central spokesman said the railroad had anticipated the cutbacks and that no immediate schedule changes were planned.

"We buy from more than one source, but they probably all will have to allocate fuel," he said.

Impeachment Call Nixed By Church

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) concluded a five-day General Assembly Wednesday by defeating a resolution seeking the impeachment of President Nixon.

Calling the resolution "more far-reaching than it first seemed," delegates turned back the action in a voice vote.

"They felt it was prejudgmental," said a church spokesman.

The delegates did approve two resolutions urging the government "to complete prosecution of all criminal offenses related to the Watergate affair."

The President was requested to "cooperate to the fullest with the appropriate courts and committees as one step in restoration of the public's trust in governmental bodies."

The delegates called on the three governmental branches "to insure no person is above the law."

Also approved were resolutions endorsing the Equal Rights Amendment, tougher strip mining laws and farm workers' efforts to organize.

Delegates also urged the church to support individuals who have to face the question of whether or not to have an abortion.

Watergate Panel Ends 'Dirty Tricks' Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee will close out the "dirty tricks" phase of its hearings by questioning Clark MacGregor, who directed President Nixon's reelection campaign to a landslide victory in 1972.

The former Minnesota congressman and White House aide took charge of the Committee for the Re-election of the President two weeks after the June 17, 1972, break-in at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate. He replaced former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who resigned.

MacGregor was summoned to appear today after Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., suggested the panel should probe allegations by some lower-level agents in the Nixon campaign that political sabotage and espionage are usual ingredients in American politics.

Campaign managers for Democratic presidential candidates George McGovern and Edmund S. Muskie have testified they never financed or permitted such acts against their opponents.

And several members of the committee, including Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., have insisted that dirty tricks simply are not "politics as usual."

MacGregor, now a United Aircraft Corp. executive, has denied any involvement in the Watergate cover-up that followed the break-in, even though his deputy in the campaign, Jeb Stuart Magruder, and other re-election committee officials have admitted taking part in it.

No evidence has surfaced that would link him directly to the events, but Robert C. Mardian testified before the committee that he tried on numerous occasions to warn MacGregor that the campaign chief hadn't been told the whole truth about the committee's involvement in the scandal.

Mardian, a former assistant attorney general and a lawyer for the Nixon committee, said MacGregor "didn't want to hear any more about it" and insisted on accepting an assurance he was given when he took the job that no one then employed by the committee was involved.

On Wednesday, the first day the hearings weren't televised, Muskie campaign manager Berl I. Bernhard told the committee that document thefts and sabotage led to his running "something in the nature of a police state" inside the campaign organization.

It has since been learned it was spies paid by the Nixon organization who purloined vital strategy papers from Muskie headquarters.

But Bernhard said that at the time the events "resulted in demoralizing distrust, in erroneous accusations of my own staff members for what I believed were their indiscretions and even their treachery."

"This impeded a coordinated effort because, not knowing whom one could trust, fewer and fewer people were taken into the councils when it came to making decisions. These events certainly helped to undermine the image of Sen. Muskie by making him appear unable to adequately manage a staff which had been made to appear as sieve-like amateurs who couldn't keep a confidence."

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Teens who can identify with other teens problems will find many of the new paperbacks interesting. The heroine in "The Fog Comes on Little Pig Feet" by Rosemary Wells, is a bright young girl trying to be honest in a school where the honor system invites tattling. Responsible adult teachers use the system to keep independent girls in line. Hypocrisy may not be one of the seven deadly sins, but it's a nasty trait about which Rosemary Wells writes convincingly. The novel was an honor book among the Newberry Awards selections.

Behind the facade of a happy home, two parents are engaged in a bitter, nit-picking battle that culminates in a separation. But twelve year old Karen can cope when she realizes the inevitability of divorce. In Judy Blume's, "It's Not the End of the World", the focus is on Karen's struggle to unite her parents and return to a comfortable family life. A thoroughly nice, believable girl, the reader will sympathize with her plight.

Nat Hentoff knows how teens feel and how they express themselves. In "I'm Really Dragged, But Nothing Gets Me Down," he explores the lack of trust between parent and child. Every generation demands something: respect, an appropriate number of status symbols, gratitude, social change or social stability, etc. And generations collide over these issues again and again. This is a personal story of one family and how they resolve their problems.

"Bonnie Jo, Go Home" by Jeanette Eyerly should be read by girls and their parents. It faces squarely the problem of unwanted pregnancy and the accompanying anguish. But this book makes its most telling point when it describes the loneliness of a girl confronting the harsh and cold outside world.

In "Don't Look and It Won't Hurt" by Richard Peck, a ninth grader who is not among the "in" crowd battles for recognition. With a mother who works in an all night cafe and an older sister who is unmarried and pregnant, Carol's brave efforts to hold her family together represent love in the best sense of the word. Carol is definitely a girl worth knowing.

Can an Indian boys documents claiming prior ownership of white man's land hope to win in court? "Chief" in Frank Bonham's novel is hereditary chief of his tribe; a teen with a yen for law school. Frank Bonham writes convincingly of the "now" world and teens will be caught up in this humorous and fast paced story.

Penal Inmates Charge Constitutional Violation

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Four Ohio State Reformatory inmates have charged in a U.S. District Court brief that prison officials have violated inmates' constitutional rights, including freedom of speech and due process.

The brief was received Wednesday by Judge Ben C. Green, who said he would rule later on whether it could be recognized as a suit over prisoner grievances.

The brief charges that inmates at the Mansfield reformatory were denied due process and equal protection under law, freedom from cruel and unusual punishment and freedom of speech to express political beliefs.

The brief said prisoners were denied access to the courts, not permitted lawyers in disciplinary hearings, assessed punishment for unproven rules violations, beaten and improperly placed in isolation cells.

It asks that Green assume jurisdiction, accept the brief as a class action suit, enjoin prison officials from continuing the alleged violations and award the inmates a money settlement.

The brief said the total of the settlement would depend on the number of defendants, plaintiffs and a variety of other factors.

The brief was written by Gary L. Beeman, who said he was an inmate legal advisor authorized by the Capital University Inmate Assistance Project to investigate prisoner complaints. The other three inmates listed were Keith Stevens, Robert Ross and Solomon Jeffries.

Named as defendants were Rehabilitation and Correction Department Director Bennett J. Cooper; Robert C. White, superintendent of the Mansfield reformatory; Charles H. Rowe, associate superintendent of the reformatory, and 10 other prison and parole officials.

State Hospital Chief Quits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State mental health officials say they do not yet have a candidate in mind to replace Dr. Mahmud T. Faruki as superintendent of the Dayton Mental Health Center.

Faruki, who had headed the center for 12 years, resigned Wednesday in the wake of a controversy over the death of a patient at the center last February. The patient, Lawana Self, 24, died after insulin medication.

Dr. Gordon Ogram, commissioner of mental health for the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Retardation, said Billy Crandall, district manager for the department's Dayton Region, has been named acting superintendent of the center.

Dr. Essam A. Roushdy-Anan, an unlicensed physician at the center, was fired in connection with the Self death.

"An investigation found that the medical care" given the mentally retarded woman "wasn't really appropriate," Ogram said.

Ogram said, "Dr. Roushdy, being an unlicensed doctor in Ohio, did not call the licensed physician who was on duty at the time of death." He said the administration (of the center) was aware of these two facts subsequent to her death and took no action."

Ogram said the investigation of other circumstances in the death of Miss Self would continue.

Her death followed by about three weeks

Dean, Mitchell Talks Not Taped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says no tape recordings were made of two presidential conversations considered essential to the Watergate investigation and it will bring witnesses to court to prove it.

The recordings never existed, President Nixon's lawyer said Wednesday.

Secret Service technician Raymond C. Zumwalt, who installed and serviced the automatic recording equipment in the President's offices, Zumwalt's boss and the technician's assistant, were scheduled to testify today before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

Through all the court fights, high-level statements, and eventual agreement by the President to comply with court orders, the existence of nine tapes sought by Watergate investigators was never questioned.

Deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said at the White House that Nixon had been unaware until last weekend that specific conversations of June 20, 1972, and April 15, 1973, were not recorded.

J. Fred Buzhardt, the President's counsel, told Sirica a four-minute conversation on June 20 between Nixon and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was on a telephone not connected to recorders.

And the April 15 conversation between the President and former counsel John W. Dean III was "not recorded due to malfunctioning of the system or inadequacy of the system," Buzhardt told Sirica.

Warren explained that extensive conversations and discussions in Nixon's office on April 14 and 15 — prior to the Dean meeting had been recorded. But, he said, "when this conversation took place the first recorder had run out, filled up and the alternate recorder was not activated until the next day, the 16th."

April 15 was a Sunday. Zumwalt testified Wednesday that the equipment was serviced only on weekdays and that the switching system to a second six-hour reel apparently didn't work. He said it was the only failure he knew of.

The missing recordings include what Mitchell told Nixon in their first reported conversation following the Watergate break-in of June 20, 1972, and of what passed between Nixon and Dean in a meeting in which Dean said Nixon admitted discussing clemency as part of the Watergate cover-up.

The disclosure brought quick reaction from senators of both parties.

"As of this moment, President Nixon has the clear burden of satisfying the American people that he has been speaking the truth. If he fails in this, then we are faced with a political crisis of the most profoundly disturbing proportions," said James L. Buckley, Con.-R-N.Y.

Republican Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon said the revelation that "the very tapes that have been fought over to the brink of a constitutional confrontation" don't exist "dramatically escalates the problem of this administration's credibility."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., called it incredible and said, "Surely, the President and his counsel must have known the situation on these tapes during all of the discussions with the court and with the Senate committee. The public is fed up with this sort of business."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said, "I find it astonishing."

Archibald Cox, who was ousted as special prosecutor for rejecting a presidential compromise offer concerning the tapes, said he believes the White House representatives he dealt with knew nothing about the condition of the tapes.

He said he learned of problems with the April 15 recording shortly before he was fired.

In a court memorandum in support of his subpoena for the recordings, Cox had said the tape of June 20 Mitchell conversation "will either tend to confirm Mitchell's version" that he told the President only five men were involved "or show a more candid report."

If Dean's version of the April 15 meeting was true and accurate, the memorandum had said "this testimony would indicate an important dimension to the cover-up conspiracy. If false and misleading, a perjuried injustice has been done for which the grand jury can return an indictment."

Richard Ben Veniste, a prosecution force lawyer who questioned Zumwalt, said he was attempting "to explore all the circumstances surrounding the fact that these tapes according to the White House never existed."

It also was the first chance for a prosecution force lawyer to get detailed testimony of the taping operation. Zumwalt said under questioning that the initial tapes were made Feb. 16, 1971, and that the equipment was dismantled July 18 this year.

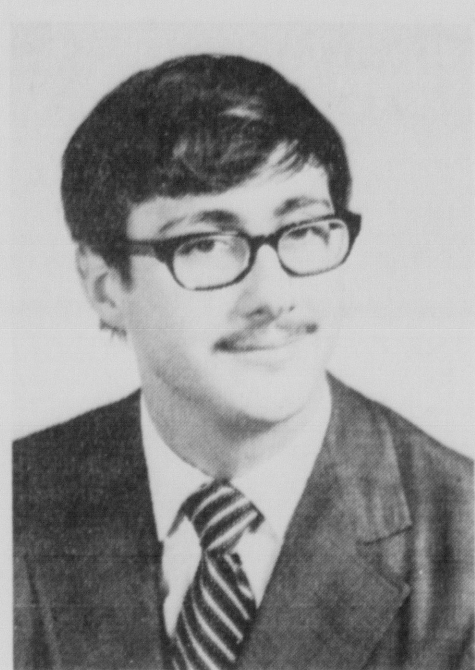

Meanwhile, the Senate Watergate committee was to end the dirty tricks phase of its investigation with testimony from Clark MacGregor, who succeeded Mitchell as director of the 1972 Nixon re-election campaign. Next week, the committee will look into campaign financing.

It heard Wednesday from Berl I. Bernhard, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's campaign manager, that Muskie's most vital political strategy document and polls of two key Democratic primary states apparently were stolen from campaign headquarters.

Meanwhile, former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst issued a four-page statement saying he threatened to resign rather than obey President Nixon's order last April to drop an appeal of the ITT antitrust case and that the President changed his mind in face of the threat. The suit against the corporation continued and resulted in a settlement.

Jury Decides In Favor Of Plaintiffs

A jury of eight reached a decision in favor of the plaintiffs Wednesday afternoon in a civil action in common pleas court. Robert R. and Ruth E. Turvey, Tarlton had initiated action in the amount of $61,000 against James L. Young, Waverly.

The plaintiffs were suing for damages to the automobile, personal injuries and medical expenses incurred as a result of an accident on Oct. 30, 1970 on Route 56.

Two physicians testified in behalf of the plaintiff and one in behalf of the defendant. At the end of the testimony, the defense acknowledged liability.

The verdict reached by the jury allows the plaintiffs to collect only $17,000 of the original amount of the suit.

Ford Faces Committee Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford offered himself today as "a ready conciliator and calm communicator" between a beleaguered Republican President and the Democratic-controlled Congress.

In testimony for the start of his confirmation hearings by the Senate Rules Committee, the 60-year-old Michigan congressman said he had supplied complete personal and political financial records because of the great importance of the present inquiry.

"I believe you and the Congress and the American people must become fully satisfied that I am worthy of your trust and that I am fit to perform the duties of the vice presidency," Ford told senators prepared to question him about his handling of campaign contributions.

"I am not a saint, and I'm sure I have done things I might have done better or differently or not at all," the House GOP leader added. "I have also left undone things that I should have done."

"But I believe and hope that I have been honest with myself and with others, that I have been faithful to my friends and fair to my opponents, and that I have tried my best to make this great government work for the good of all Americans," Ford said.

His eight-page opening statement dealt with general philosophy and his view of the vice presidency, leaving it to the questioning by the nine Rules Committee members to go into financial and other questions raised in the FBI probe of Ford.

Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., the committee chairman, said Wednesday he had seen "things that will certainly raise questions" in the probe of the veteran Michigan congressman nominated by President Nixon to succeed the resigned Spiro T. Agnew.

Cannon also said without specific reference to Nixon's Watergate woes and the launching of House impeachment inquiry against the President that, in considering Ford for the government's No. 2 spot, "You have to assume we may be confirming a president."

However, Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky., said, as he prepared to resume reading the FBI data, he has found nothing that will jeopardize approval of Ford "under any circumstances."

Cannon said he hopes the hearings won't take more than six to eight days. Cook said he doesn't expect the Senate to wait for House hearings before considering the nomination.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., has said he hopes the House will act on the nomination by Thanksgiving.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said earlier "it is conceivable" the House Judiciary Committee will begin its hearings next week.

Cannon and Cook both said Ford is probably the most investigated nominee in the nation's history. He has given the committee copies of income tax returns and other requested records.

Cannon, in citing charges of "laundering campaign funds," said the committee will ask Ford about the $11,000 in 1970 campaign contributions that he channeled to the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

A similar amount was then sent by the committee to Ford's Michigan District, but he didn't report the contribution in the statement he filed with the House.

Cannon didn't elaborate on his reference to charges of contributions in return for favors and, when asked if he considered some of the FBI data embarrassing to Ford, said, "I don't think I should make a comment about that."

Athletics Probe Opens

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state senator today launched a probe to determine what agency is responsible for regulating the makeup of high school athletic leagues.

Sen. M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, said three Cleveland high schools will be left in "racial isolation" outside two newly aligned suburban football leagues.

Jackson said seven member schools of the 10-member Lake Erie League were joining two new leagues beginning with the 1975-76 school year, leaving East Cleveland Shaw, Shaker Heights and Cleveland Heights isolated.

The seven schools, he said, are virtually all white while the three left have substantial black enrollment.

Jackson asked the Legislative Service Commission to determine if the Ohio High School Athletic Association or the Department of Education had authority in the area.

He said he would sponsor legislation, if necessary, to regulate the alignment of athletic leagues "insofar as racial exclusion is concerned."

Dean, Mitchell Talks Not Taped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says no tape recordings were made of two presidential conversations considered essential to the Watergate investigation and it will bring witnesses to court to prove it.

The recordings never existed, President Nixon's lawyer said Wednesday.

Secret Service technician Raymond C. Zumwalt, who installed and serviced the automatic recording equipment in the President's offices, Zumwalt's boss and the technician's assistant, were scheduled to testify today before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

Through all the court fights, high-level statements, and eventual agreement by the President to comply with court orders, the existence of nine tapes sought by Watergate investigators was never questioned.
